God's Plan In Action

Who hath believed our report? And to whom is the arm of the Lord revealed? Isaiah — 53-1.

Acts 21-7, And it shall come to pass in the last days, saith God, I will pour out of my spirit upon all flesh: and your sons and your daughters shall prophecy, and your young men shall see visions, and your old men shall dream dreams.

Apostle Bishop D.L. Brooks, D.D.W.

It is that time again to let the general church know in order to be in contact with God, we must get on the spirtual channel, which is the Holy Ghost frequency.

We must leave ourself behind and tune in on God's channel which is Holy Ghost directed., which is the executive of the Trinity.

You can only connect with him thru the spirit of God.

The Holy Ghost is here to direct us if we can tune in on God's channel and here what the spirit is saying to the churches.

Black Pilots Honored At Edges Group 12th Annual Luncheon At New York Hilton

"We had high hopes for one another," Lee Archer Jr., vice President of the General Foods Corporation, said recently about life as a "Tuskegee Airman" more than 40 years ago.

Addressing the 12th Annual Luncheon of The Edges Groups, Inc., at the New York Hilton Hotel, Archer stated: "We pushed one another forward so that we might all succeed-- even we argued or fought, it was because we all wanted everyone in the group to excel."

The "Tuskegee Airmen," the first Blacks trained to fly by the U.S. Army Air Corps during World War II, made History as combat fliers in Europe and many have since gained prominence as both career military men and as civilians.

Archer told the audience that "Our entire group at Tuskegee excelled even our failures were spectacular."

Tghe luncheon chairman and master of ceremonies was Stanley S. Scott, Vice President and Director of Corporate Affairs for Philip Morris Incorporated. Noting the luncheon theme, "A Salute To The Black pilots of Major Airlines," Scott said, "today we pay tribute to all the Black men and women who have ever raised their eyes to the sky and said, 'I too will fly."

Scott reminded the luncheon guests, including 30 current Black pilots from 14 airlines, of the sobering realities of racial stereotypes of the time. he told of a Tuskegee flyer, a captain, who observed an enlisted man asking a white officer if it was "legal" for a Black to be a captain.

The keynote speaker, Robert L. Crandall, President and chief operating Officer, American Airlines, told the group that there would "be more opportunities in the airline industry in the future because we need to use the potential of our workers to the maximum."

He said that Blacks had not always been welcomed as flyers and that "racial prejudice is an ugly blot in the history of aviation."

The Edges Group, he said, had "been responsible for some real gains in this area."

Founded in 1969 to facilitate the entry of minorities into positions in both the public and privte sectors, Edges is an acronym for much of the organization's activities employment, dissemination of information, group development, economic awareness and solving problems.

Are Black Writers Discriminated Against?

Black writers have been aggressively negotiating for increased employment for two years. Willis Edwards, President of the Beverly Hills/Hollywood chapter of the NAACP, is releasing the statistics for the 1984-85 television season. These figures confirm that discrimination against Black writers is widespread. Of the 67 shows offered to the TV viewers - 25 new this fall - there are only 4 Black staff writers employed on three shows, representing less than 2 percent of the writers employed.

There are 67 shows ready to bow on the Networks this season (84-85). Two (2) shows "Crazy Like a Fox" and "Street Hawk" are being readied for mid-season. Total 69 shows. Of these there are 25 new shows (first airing) for 84-85.

There are only four (4) Black writers working on staff writers in prime-time television..2 shows. This indicates that out of 69 shows on the prime-time schedule only 2 shows employ Black staff writers. (The average writing staff on a show varies anywhere from four (4) to seven (7) writers.

Magnuson States Inititave 456 Is Misspent Energy.

The current debate regarding Initiative 456 is an exercise in misspent energy. Perhaps the most unfortunate aspect of this effort is the time being wasted that would be better used in trying to save our diminishing runs of salmon and stellhead. Time is running out for this resource, and yet another trip to the United States Supreme Court could prove to be the final blow.

After many years of involvement with all parties to this dispute, I am convinced that we can save the Pacific salmon and steelhead by taking the following positive steps:

First, we need to insist that all user groups sit down and work out a long range plan for habitat protection and rehabilitation. Cleaning up Puget Sound and protecting the watersheds and river drainages must become a top priority. Recent efforts by the State of Washington and the Northwest renewable Resources Center to involve corporate and tribal leaders in this massive undertaking are very encouraging. Agreements between Indian tribes and responsible sport fishing groups like Trout unlimited prove that mutually beneficial results can be achieved by those who are willing to work together.

Second, we in the Northwest need to speak as one in calling for a United States-Canada interception treaty.

The years of "on again, off again" discussions need to culminate in an agreement that will prevent the interception of millions of salmon headed back to our rivers and streams.

Without such a treaty, our user groups are left to bicker over a rapidly diminishing resource.

Third, our congressional delegation must be encouraged to seek and obtain federal funding for the Salmon and Steelhead Enhancement Act, one of my final legislative efforts. That Act provides a realistic "blueprint" for the future that will help to solve many of the economic problems that plague our fishing solve many of the economic problems that plague our fishing industry. However, if we fail to speak with one voice on the crucial need to federal funding in this area, the Congress can not be assured that the money will be well spent.

For the sake of our salmon and steelhead, Initiative 456 should be rejected so we can get on with the task at hand.

WORDS OF WISDOM

HAVE YOU BELIEVE OUR REPORT?
SERIES #47
ISAIAH 53: 1&2

Who hath believed our report? and to whom is the arm of the Lord revealed?

For he shall grow up before him as a root out of dry ground.

He hath no form nor comiliness: and when we shall see him, there is no beauty that we should desire him.

ST. JOHN 3

There was a man of the Pharisees, named Nicodemus, ruler of the Jews:

Thesame came to Jesus by night, and said unto him, Rabbi, we know that thou art a teacher come from God: For no ma can do these miracles that thou doest, except God be with him.

Jesus answered and said unto him, Verily, verily, I say unto thee, Except a man be born again, he cannot see the Kingdom of God.

Nicodemus saith unto him, How can a man be born when he is old? can he enter the second time into his mother's womb, and be born?

Jesus answered, Verily, verily, I say unto thee, Except a man be born of water and of the Spirit, he cannot enter into the Kingdom of God.

That which is born of the flesh is flesh; and that which is born of the Spirit is spirit.

Marvel not that I said unto thee, Ye must be born again.

The wind bloweth where it listeth, and thou hearest the sound thereof, but canst not tell whence it cometh, and whither it goeth: so is every one that is born of the Spirit.

Nicodemus answered and said unto him, How can these things be?

Jesus answered and said unto him, Art thou a master of Israel, and knowest not these things?

Verily, verily, I say unto thee, We speak that we do know, and testify that we have seen; and ye receive not our witness.

If I have told you earthly things, and ye believe not, how shall ye believe not, how shall ye believe, if I tell you of heavenly things?

And no man hath ascended up to heaven, but he that came down from heaven, even the Son of man which is in heaven.

and as Moses lifted up the serpent in the wilderness, even so must the Son of man be lifted up:

that whosoever believeth in him should not perish, but have eternal life.

For God so loved the world, that he gave his only begotten son, that whosoever believeth in him should not perish, but have everlasting life.

For God sent not his son into the world to condemn the world; but that the world through him might be saved.

Obey And Honor

"Children,obey your parents in the Lord for this is right. Honour thy father and mother; which is the first commandment with promise;That it may be well with thee, and thou mayest live long on the earth."

Ephesians 6:1-3

Paul's key words for young people in relation to their parents is obedience and honor. The word "obedience" literally means to listen to or to give respectful attention to. The word "honor" is the translation of the Greek word timao and pertains to the basic disposition or attitude toward parents. These verses do not contain all that God's Word says to young people about their parents. But they do present four great truths that I will speak to.

1) Obedience and honor must have a spiritual basis. Ephesians 6:1 states that "obedience" is "in the Lord." The idea is that if you have a good relationship with the Lord, and a healthy spiritual life, then you will have a proper relationship with your parents. No young person can ever speak about a good relationship to Christ if they do not have one with their parents.

When parents are right, and young people listen to them, and give them the honor due to them, they are pleasing the Lord. So many young people miss this point and thus lose their good testimony.

2) Obedience and honour are commanded. The verb "obey" and the verb "honor" are both in the imperative mood. That means they are commands. If a person is under authority - and young people are to their parents - then you must obey their commands.

The verbs are in the present tense. That means that obedience and honor must be given all the time. There are no holidays or vacations. This obedience and good attitude must be present regardless of whether you like or agree with the command given. It is not what pleases you that counts, but what your parents command. Surely they should be commanding in love and considera tion, but whether they do or not is not the basis for your response. If they are right, you are wrong not to obey. God tells you to respect your parents, and because He does you must obey and honor them regardless of the difficulty involved.

3) Obedience and honor are related to God's system of order in the family. The end of Ephesians 6:1 states: "For this is right." That means that obedience and honor to parents is part of the plan for family life as God has set it up. Jesus' response to his parents illustrates this. In Luke 2:51 we read, "And He went down with them, and came to Nazareth, and was subject unto them." If Jesus, none other than God's Son and God Himself in human form, was obedient to His parents, then certainly we should be.

4) Obedience and honor carry a promise. Ephesians 6:2-3 says, "Honor thy father and mother; which is the first commandment with promise; That it may be well with thee, and thou mayest live long upon the earth." The Greek word for well is eu and carries with it the idea of having a sense of well-being, of prosperity, of something well done. It means a relaxed inner donficence that you have given parents their proper due.

Peter, Paul & Mary At Opera House

The legends of folk music, PETER, PAUL AND MARY will appear in Seattle at the Opera House on Saturday, November 17 at 8PM.

Peter Yarrow, Paul Stookey and Mary Travers, since the early 60's, have had the unique distinction of successfully blending their social and political views with their folk-oriented music. Their commitment, expressing their concern for our world through song has perhaps been the main reason they have earned the tremendous following. They are in fact the most successful folk trio in the history of popular music, with such all time hits as, "If I Had A Hammer," "Leaving On A Jet Plane," "Blowin' In The Wind," "Don't Think Twice," and "Puff The Magic Dragon." Added to their show of already familiar tunes will be Peter Yarrow's moving song for peace "Light One Candle," and "El Salvador," written by Paul Stookey. Mary Travers comments, "One of the most moving mements for us is the coming together of thousands of people who are reaching for the warmth of shared commitment. When songs can break the walls of alienation, they make a community out of a concert hall."

Tickets are now on sale for this special event at all Ticketmaster outlets. Call 628-0888 for information and to charge by phone.

Peter, Paul and Mary are being presented in Seattle by Cornish Institute.

Religious Leaders Oppose 456

We the undersigned Washington State religious leaders are strongly opposed to Initiative 456. This statewide ballot measure petitions Congress to take away tribal rights to harvest fish. It declares further that the State of Washington should not recognize tribal rights to manage natural resources.

We see 456 as an initiative with racist implications. it singles out one race of people to deprive them of a property right carefully clarified by the courts.

We see 456 implicity blaming the tribes for problems of the salmon resource. This negative image of the Indian people is projected even though fisheries managers tell us that environmental factors and international salmon interceptions are the major threat to the resource.

Already the 456 proposal has added to racial tensions around fisheries, and tribal fishers are reporting increased ugly incidents of harassment. We wish to turn away from the old spirit of rancor to continue nurturing thehard won harmony and mutual respect created by recent cooperative management efforts.

Finally, we believe Initiative 456 is a dishonorable proposal because it sets aside our word of honor given in the treaties. We cannot afford morally to become a nation that breaks its treaties at will. We will benefit as a people if we stand by these old promises even in the face of public pressure.

Police Charge Gang Warfare Linked To Drugs

LOS ANGELES--(KNS)--Law enforcement officials charged this week that a power struggle between two South-Central drug syndicates for control of the Southern California cocaine market has resulted in at least 25 murders over the past eight months.

"A lot of this gang killing isn't accidental," one source told KNS. "Somebody is targeting these people."

According to informed sources, the two groups, one known as Third World and the other as Whitey's Enterprises, are made up of former street gang members, many of whom have served time in state prison.

"These organizations," said one investigator, "are headed by adults who sell drugs to the street gangs and the gangs are selling (the drugs) on the street." Investigators said it is not uncommon for arresting police officers to find young, unemployed street gang members "who have from $500 to $1,000 on them" when they are apprehended.

"Drugs are now the main focus of gang activity in South-Central Los Angeles and some big men are behind it," one supervisor of the Police Department's gang activities section said.

During the month of August, nearly two dozen citizens were shot in "drive-bys," where cars slowlyroll up to unsuspecting or otherwise innocent victims and riders unleash terror in the form of deadly gunfire.

Earlier, police felt that gangs were just "flexing their muscles," letting area residents know that--in spite of increased police presence during the Games of the XXIIIrd Olympiad--they still control their respective street gang turfs. But residents who have witnessed drug deals in broad daylight have refuted the suppositions of law enforcement officials.

In response to Supervisor Hahn's request for aid from state officials, the governor's press secretary, Larry Thomas, said the chief executive believes the gang situation is one that "should be dealt with at a local level. The gang's aren't roving the state."

Police Chief Daryl F. Gates, vowing to put an end to gang terror, named Commander Lorne Kramer to head a program to combat the recent flare-up of violence. Kramer said Third World and Whitey's Enterprises "are a couple of several gangs identified in the southern part of the city that are actively engaged in dealing narcotics." Pushers in the street, sources said, are usually between 13 and 16 years old.

Death Penalty Will Be Sought In Alexander Family Murders

An alleged South-Central Los Angeles gang member charged with murdering four relatives of ex-football star Kermit Alexander may face the gas chamber if prosecutors in the case have their way.

Tiequon Aundray Cox, 18, was charged this week with the Aug. 31 shooting of Alexander's mother, sister and two young nephews. According to police sources, Cox--and an unnamed accomplice, who is still at large--entered the wrong house when they shot and killed the family members of Alexander, a former UCLA and Los Angeles Rams football player.

Although there is speculation that the killers may have mistaken the Alexander home for a drug operation located on a street in the quiet neighborhood, police said they are not certain if gang activity or drugs played a role in the murders. No motive has been ascertained by police at this time.

Cox was identified by police as a member of a local gang and was linked to the case through a .30 caliber rifle used in the murders and obtained by police after officers arrested the suspect on gun possession charges on September 6.

"We were able to tie (the gun) to the scene of the crime, and we were able to tie that to Cox,"

"Even though we believe they went to the wrong house, and that those who were murdered were murdered by mistake," Booth said, "we are trying to ascertain where they did intend to go, and did they intend to kill somebody and who was involved in constructing such a plan."

Come To Church Services

PSALM 33
PRAISE OF GOD FOR HIS GOODNESS

Rejoice in the Lord, O ye righteous: for praise is comely for the upright.

Praise the Lord with harp: sing unto him with the psaltery and an instrument of ten strings.

sing unto him a new song; play skilfully with a loud noise.

For the word of the Lord is right; and all his works are done in truth.

He loveth righteousness and judgment: the earth is full of the goodness of the Lord.

By the word of the Lord were the heavens made; and all the host of them by the breath of his mouth.

He gathereth the waters of the sea together as an heap; he layeth up the depth in storehouses.

Let all the earth fear the Lord: let all the inhabitants of the world stand in awe of him.

For he spake, and it was done: he commanded, and it stood fast.

The Lord bringeth the counsel of the heathen to nought: he maketh the devices of the people of none effect.

The counsel of the Lord stndeth for ever, the thoughts of his heart to all generations.

Blessed is the nation whose God is the Lord; and the people whom he hath chosen for his own inheritance.

We welcome news of your church and civic events.

Tony Brown's Comments

A Sad Footnote In History

A Black Communist from a White Ivy League school who passes as a "grassroots" columnist charges repeatedly that I am a "Reaganite" because I do not support Walter Mondale.

His argument lacks the force of logic and lets no facts stand in the way of his support of socialist theory. While he points out the regressive and anti-Black policies of both Reagan and Mondale, he inconsistently and illogically calls for an all-out mobilization of Black votes for Mondale.

One group, however, might fit his definition of "Reaganite." There are those Blacks who traditionally support the Republican Party. As of October 16, The Washington Post reported 16 percent of Black registered voters (an increase of 5 percent from the week before) preferred the Reagan/Bush ticket over Mondal/Ferraro. In 1980, Blacks gave Reagan 14 percent of their votes and Gerald Ford got 16 percent in 1976.

But his definition of "Reaganite" has falsely thrown a large number of Black, including me, into that category by labeling independent thinkers as Reagan supporters. The vast majority of Blacks, I would guess, are ambivalent about Mondale at best and totally turned-off of Ronald Reagan.

This group is finding out that this frustration cannot be inevitably postponed or resolved by picking the best of the worst every four years. Some have thrown up their hands in utter frustration.

Last August, Thomas Todd, co-founder of PUSH, denounced both Mondale and the Democratic Party and told his listeners to vote their conscience.

"It was Walter Mondale who selected Geraldine Ferraro at the last minute. It was Walter Mondale who tried to flip-flop on Bert Lance and Manat. It was Walter Mondale who came into Chicago and campaigned for Richard Daly against Harold Washington. It was Walter Mondale who took the endorsement from Vrdolyak. It was Walter Mondale who attacked Farrakahn. And you tell me I must choose... I will exercise my option. I will vote for neither Walter Mondale or Ronald Wilson Reagan," the former acting president of PUSH said.

Todd said he will no longer be intimidated into voting against the Republican Party. He said that those who caution that a re-elected Reagan will "pack" the Supreme Court as several vacancies are expected to open on the bench over the next four years are wrong. "The damn Supreme Court is already packed. Don't be tricked. Ronald Reagan canot appoint a Supreme Court Justice. He can only recommend. The United States Senate must confirm. When Harold Carswell was recommended by Richard Nixon to the Supreme Court, he never made it."

And Jesse Jackson, who received 3.5 million votes and 85 percent of the Black vote in the Democratic primaries, has not transferred his "enthusiasm" to Mondale. Instead, he talks against Reagan and not for Mondale (and very little of that); it is a very clever ploy of going through the motions. And his followers are receiving his weak "signal."

Whatever the outcome, it will be a sad political season for Blacks, a footnote n the history of political self-delusion. To say it another way, Dennis Serrette's chances are about as good as Walter Mondale's who still trails Reagan by a landslide deficit.

But that's no reason not to vote for the 544 Black candidates around the country who are running for office.

Pass The Civil Rights Act

In its rush to adjourn and get back home for the election campaign, the Senate dumped the Civil Rights Act of 1984, which had been passed by the House.

That means no civil rights legislation this year, and a new fight for this urgently needed law next year.

The Senate's inaction was shameful, especially since the bill was backed by members of both parties and was generally supported by the public as a necessary corrective to a Supreme Court decision that opened a loophole in existing civil rights laws.

In the Grove City College case, the Court said that a college that refused to sign a non-discrimination statement required by federal law, could not be denied federal funds. Only the college unit found in non-compliance could be punished.

A college could now look the other way while its athletics department or its chemistry department discriminated. colleges would have no incentive at all to impose uniform anti-discrimination policies since there would be no effective sanctions against such behavior so as it takes place in a department that doesn't get money from Washington.

Congress never intended of the particular civil rights statute in there is a danger that the interpretation of the particular civil rights statute in question, dealing with sex discrimination in higher education, might be extended to other civil rights laws.

That's why it was so urgent for the Congress to pass the Civil Rights Act of 1984, before further damage could be done.

The bill would amend existing civil rights laws to make a covered institution responsible for any discrimination in any of its units.

That puts the responsibility for compliance with the law where it belongs -- with the central administration of an institution. To do otherwise would be to invite selective discrimination or, at best, institutional indifference to possible discrimination in units that don't get direct federal aid.

The legislation would also allow individuals to file civil rights suits against a unit of an institution that gets federal funds, even if that particular unit does not receive such funds.

This legislation is corrective. Without it, the civil rights laws could be easily subverted and recipients of federal aid could escape accountability.

the Court's decision was based on the fallacy that discrimination is something that can be partitioned. But in fact discrimination is a fast-spreading poison. Tolerate it in one ofice or department and it soon will contaminate the entire institution.

That was clearly seen by the House, which passed the civil Rights bill by a wide margin-- 375-32-- and by the 63 Senators that sponsored the Senate bill.

but a handful of Senators, backed by the Justice Department, kept the bill from coming to a vote, raising objections that the bill was too sweeping although it would simploy restore the situation that existed before the Court's Grove City decision.

It is tragic that we should be involved in such a hard fight for an issue that was fought and settled many years ago. The Civil Rights bill should be the first item on the agenda for the new congress.

How Long Do You Want To Live

Many hundreds of years ago, it was a Chinese custom for a doctor to ask a patient "how long do you want to live?" By asking this important question the doctor could determine how interested the patient was in his or her health. Based on that interest the doctor could make the appropriate recommendations.

I hope your answer would be: "I want to live for a long time, as long as I am healthy and am alert." It should be everybody's goal in life to function at near 100% capability and to accomplish as much good as they possibly can.

Research has shown in order to live for a long period of time and be healthy there are basically five laws of nature that are important in achieving that goal.

1st. Law: is a proper functioning nerve system; 2nd Law: of nature is diet: 3rd Law: of nature is the proper amount of rest; 4th Law: of nature is the proper amount of exercise; 5th Law: is a proper mental attitude.

All five laws go into making a healthy person. We are finding that if you live by these five guidelines for good health, many problems can be relieved and many prevented. All but law number one is possible without outside help. Chiropractic is the specialist in locating and correcting any irritations which takes place in the nerve system that could disturb norman function to our bodies. One of the most overlooked causes. of diseases is an irritation of the nervous system.

Have your spines checked regularly along with these other guidelines and each of us can live a long and healthy life.

Gods Plan

No man can number the saints of God, only the spirit can count the number of God's people, The spirit of the Lord led me to Tacoma 6 years ago to set a standard for the churches in the state of Wash. that it may spill over into the other states and the whole church in General.

We have been pastoring for 14 years, eight in Seattle. Previous to that we did world wide evangelist work for approximately 15 years until the Lord led me off the field into the pastors arena. Since that time, 14 years ago we set a standard in Seattle Wash. by exalting the church Not to sell any merchandise, dinners, fish fries, rummage, or ticket sales anywhere in the sanctuary or on the immediate church grounds. We de - ployed the selling on the streets of Seattle to build God's sanctuary. We believe that God did need us to sell or promegate selling in order to build his house.

We purchased all the land surrounding our sanctuary without the aid of any dinners, ticket selling or soliciting from any of our members or donations from any of them towards the purchase of the grounds. God gave us favors outside of the church with wealthy members of other denominations and business people in general, to pay all of our needs without any cost to the local congregation

The Lord directed us to bring our plan to the city of Tacoma, the Headquarters of the State of Wash. Our plan has not been accepted or asked for as of yet. We continue to Promegate God's plan for the church as it has been expressed by Bishop J.O. Patterson. Tithes and offerings are God's plan for the world church without any sanctuary selling. God has set his approval on our work in the city of Tacoma by first buying the Largest effice in the Black community, valued at $1 million and paying off same within two years of purchase. Since that time, other buildings have been purchased, including housing for the low-income.

We are also the first church owned Dept. Store in the state of Wash. We are implementing job training. The profits from the store are geared to helping the poor and needy. All prices are at a competitive level and below.

Activities of the Holy Trinity C.O.G.I.C. include Hill Top Food and Clothing Bank, located at 1313 South "J" St.

The department store is owned and operated by the church. It is founded and directed by Apostle Bishop D.L. Brooks D.D.W.

Eld. O.C. Williams has been appointed manager by Bishop Brooks. He is doing an excellent job in that capacity.
